By placing my signature below, I verify that the information in this application and all supporting documents submitted by me, are complete, accurate and true. I understand clearly that any misrepresentation of facts in this application could result in denial of my application for admission, or result in revocation of financial aid, and dismissal from the university if discovered after I enroll. I further understand that the University of the Southern Caribbean has an obligation to report confirmed cases of forged documents to the police. My signature below also verifies that I agree to have my USC grades used for statistical studies and/or sent to external organizations for evaluation, accreditation, immigration and advising purposes.

CITIZENSHIP AGREEMENT

We at the University of the Southern Caribbean are pleased to know you desire to be a member of our community. USC is a Christian institution with very high standards and we intend to keep it that way. The University is passionate about its mission: "To transform ordinary people into extraordinary servants of God to humanity." Accordingly, it educates its students for generous service to God and society, in keeping with a faithful witness to Christ and to the worldwide mission of the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Students are not required to become Seventh-day Adventists; but they are challenged to embrace a lifestyle that supports the harmonious development of the mental, physical and spiritual health of the individual; to heed the invitation to personal and moral integrity and to adhere to the dress, health and moral codes of the institution. The core values are outlined below and students are required to be aware of these values and to make a decision as to whether or not they want to study in such an environment, before enrolling at USC. While, our standards for conduct are non-negotiable, USC Administration has provided channels through which changes can be initiated.

The core values fundamental to the University have their base in Biblical principles, and require that all students:

- Maintain personal integrity
- Maintain a drug, alcohol and tobacco-free lifestyle
- Refrain from any form of verbal, physical, or sexual harassment or abuse
- Refrain from sexual immorality
- Exhibit appropriateness and modesty in deportment, speech and dress; refrain from using conspicuous make -up such as bright-coloured lipstick, rouge, eye shadow, or nail polish and from wearing any form of ornamental jewellery such as rings (except wedding or engagement rings), earrings, nose rings, necklaces, pendants (except medical), bracelets (except medical), anklets, etc. on campus or to any off-campus activity conducted under the auspices of the University
- Refrain from the use or possession of firearms, explosive devices or other dangerous weapons
- Exhibit respect for the property of other students
- Protect institutional property

Additional expectations that support the Mission of the University:

- All single international undergraduates are expected to live in one of the residence halls and to adhere to expectations outlined in the Student and Residence Hall Handbooks (Please refer to these for further information). Students are expected to refrain from entering the living area of a student of the opposite sex.
- The food served in the cafeteria and snack shops is vegetarian. No flesh food is to be brought on Campus except where a student can show that he/she needs to do so for medical reasons. Proof of this fact will be required in the form of a doctor's letter.
- All full-time [minimum of 16 module credits] students are expected to meet together at the scheduled date and time for General Assembly, worship session and other published University forums including lyceum events, where faith, values and ethics are nurtured and examined. Additional morning and evening sessions are required for residence hall students. A pattern of failure to meet these appointments will negatively impact citizenship and student status.

My presence on the USC campus as a registered student is evidence that I have chosen the University of the Southern Caribbean and its high values and standards. By placing my signature on this citizenship agreement, I thereby indicate my willingness to uphold the citizenship requirements as outlined in the relevant Student Handbooks and bulletins, or as otherwise published by the institution. I agree that I will voluntarily withdraw from the institution, when I find that I can no longer adhere to the requirements for USC citizenship.
