CAREER OPPORTUNITY

Applications are invited from suitably qualified individuals for the following position:

DEAN SCHOOL OF SOCIAL SCIENCES

JOB SUMMARY

The Dean is the chief officer of the school and as such is its executive head, representative, academic leader, and administrator. The Dean plays a key role in institutional strategic planning and decision-making. The Dean works with the Chairs/Coordinators and others to monitor and improve the general academic health and welfare of a group of academic disciplines and programs. The Dean is responsible for the organization and operation of the school, and for its effectiveness in achieving its purpose. The Dean is also involved as a major campus officer in helping to articulate the educational purposes of the campus and to foster their accomplishment. As a member of the campus administration, the Dean is responsible for working cooperatively with other campus officials, faculty and staff and students within and across the university.

The Dean has wide latitude in carrying out this general charge. Diversity of style and of emphasis is expected. Innovation and experimentation are encouraged. The Dean is a full-time academic-administrative official, is a member of the Academic Advisory Council and may also perform special assignments from time to time. The Dean fosters team activities in the school, and contributes to maintaining the strategic pillars of the University. The position requires compliance with established policies and procedures of the school and University and a high level of confidentiality.

DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Governance/Leadership

- Ensures that the activities of the school are undertaken in accordance with the governance, policy and regulatory framework of the University.
- Develops and implements a Strategic Plan for the school that aligns with the goals of the University (mission, vision and value statements).
- Strengthens the school's interdisciplinary links across the University by liaising with other Deans and other administrators to initiate and develop programs, research programs and develop international, national and regional links which span other institutions or services.

- Represents the school as a member of the Faculty Senate.
- Represents the school on the Administrative Council, Academic Advisory Council and other Committees as required.
- Manages resources of teaching programs and arranges for interaction of division curricula. The Dean assures that service and prerequisite courses in the school are provided in adequate numbers, and that the course syllabi meet the needs of subjects for which the courses are prerequisites. The Dean reviews all academic programs, develops new programs in accordance with market needs, and manages the progression and successful completion of the students within the school.
- Encourages the planning and development of new programs and improvement of current programs, i.e., more rational, imaginative and economic ways to coordinate or consolidate the subject matters of the various disciplines aggregated under the label of the school.
- Leads, manages and develops the school's focus on the achievement of excellence in teaching and research nationally and internationally; and supports activities to maximize the economic, social and cultural impact of research as appropriate.
- Recommends appointment of department and committee chairs and program coordinators; assures and collaborates with university administrators their proper orientation and training.

Academic Personnel

- Recommends to the Provost recruitment, appointment, promotion, and termination of academic and staff personnel in collaboration with the Human Resources Director.
- Supports and assists the scholarly development of faculty, particularly junior faculty; and provides recommendations to support the professional development of faculty and staff.
- Recognizes and fosters excellence in teaching.
- Recommends and collaborates with the Provost on the implementation of all personnel related policies of the university.
- Plans personnel development to meet the needs of the school.

Administrative Direction

- Is responsible for the financial affairs of the school, including seeking budgetary and extramural funds and managing the school's resources; manages the financial viability of academic programs; and encourages grant applications.
- Assures proper management of, and is responsible for space, facilities, and property for the school.
- Is involved in the management of the capital projects of the school.
- Ensures the health and safety of faculty, staff, students, and visitors in accordance with university requirements.
- Produces management and other reports as required.
